

St Leonards North – climate coastal risk overview

There is very minor inundation at this location and as a result there are no medium or high rated risks at this location.

There is some potential though for inundation of local boat ramps, roads and bridges in the area but the inundation will be minor.

There is a risk to some environmental assets – inundation of coastal alkaline scrub (ecological vegetation class 858) and coastal headland scrub (ecological vegetation class 161), but only a few hectares.

There is very minor inundation at this location
under each sea level rise scenario.
